Community Businesses Rally for Local Non-profit

EUGENE, Ore., April 29, 2008 -- On May 10, Eugene locals looking for fun weekend activities can enjoy supporting a local non-profit organization while treating themselves to pampering and delectable food.

Styles for Smiles, the Angel Hair Foundation's first (annual) fundraising event, will include participation from local salons. Bello, Gervais, Hair Virtuoso, Mia Bella, Mirage Hair Studio, Reflections and Kelly Markley at Salon Fleur De Lis are donating 15 percent of hair service revenue for the day to the Angel Hair Foundation. In addition, donation boxes will be out all week.

Donation boxes will also be at Chikara, CJ Salon, Hair by Laurie, Lux, The Moxie, Personally Yours, Poppies, Roni's Hair Care and Salon DeLange.

In addition to the generous donation of the aforementioned salons, Shawn Rahimian, owner of Johnny Ocean's Grille and Oakway Wine & Bistro (formerly known as Oakway Wine & Deli) in the Oakway Center will be donating 10 percent of the proceeds from his restaurants on the event day to the Angel Hair Foundation.

The Angel Hair Foundation, a Eugene-based non-profit organization, provides high-quality cranial prostheses to children and teens suffering from hair loss due to a medical condition who live or are being treated in Oregon. Mother-daughter founders Deborah and Staci Wright started the organization when Staci realized the confidence she gained from having a realistic cranial prosthesis to wear while she fought cancer.
